

SUPPORT GUIDE FOR ERASMUS+ INCOMING STUDENTS

LANGUAGE SUPPORT

Regardless of language requirements at their home institution before mobility, incoming students can be supported prior to or upon their arrival at our centre through different ways. In the following websites you can find free tools to learn, practice or improve some languages that will help you during your Erasmus+ stay.

BUSUU

Several languages from Erasmus countries are available, such as English, French, German, Italian, Portuguese, Turkish and Polish.

DUOLINGO

Hands-on learning in English, Portuguese, German, French and Italian

<https://es.duolingo.com/>

BABELMUNDO

Online courses in English, French, German, Italian and Portuguese

<http://www.babelmundo.es/>

AULAFACIL

Online courses in English, French, German, Italian and Portuguese

<http://www.aulafacil.com/>

LANGMASTER

English, French, German and Italian learning material.

PREPLY

Preply is a one-stop point for finding and booking private tutors for a variety of subjects, such as languages or other school and university subjects at affordable prices.

O PORTAL DA LINGUA GALEGA

Official page of the regional government with different free resources to start the Galician language.

Another possibility is that our students can share their language knowledge with an incoming Erasmus+ student. The ESCRBCCG will promote this possibility which implies an interchange of languages between Spanish and foreign students while the latter stay at our institution. At the beginning of the academic year, this option will be offered to our students through an application form, and also to incoming students, so that all of them can improve their written and conversation skills in foreign languages.

ACCOMMODATION

Many of our students are from towns other than Pontevedra (where the School is located), so that they live in rented flats, often shared with other students. The School will put incoming students in contact with those of our students that are interested in sharing a flat.

There are other possibilities in the town, such as students' halls of residence and also specialised websites where incoming students can find a flat to be shared with students from other institutions in our town, as shown in the links below:
